I am delighted to be writing the foreword to yet another wonderful set of events for Black History Month.

Black History Month is not only an opportunity for people to reflect on the past, but also a time of inclusion and partnership where people of all backgrounds can join in celebrating our arts, history and culture; as well as the many stories and experiences we share.

In a borough as diverse as Haringey, these messages of hope, courage, equality and justice are vital to every individual irrespective of race. It was the dream of our ancestors that in the future we would be a community of inclusion and opportunity, that our relationships would not only be powered by our differences, but strengthened by the ideals we hold together.

This October, we have the opportunity to experience some fantastic and thought provoking art, film, speech, music and other activities – highlighting the very best in black creativity and culture. I believe anyone getting involved will be inspired by this powerful and entertaining programme.

David Lammy MP
Minister for Higher Education and Intellectual Property,
Member of Parliament
for Tottenham

I am delighted to be invited to contribute to the introduction to the 2009 Black History Month programme. Black History Month is highly valued by the Council and this year's programme looks like being one of the most exciting yet.

Celebrating the contribution of Caribbean and African people to the borough is vitally important given their role in developing Haringey into the diverse and vibrant place it is. It is great to see a wide range of events on offer that I am sure will appeal to residents across the borough.

Not only do events such as these celebrate the contribution made by black people they also promote an understanding between different community groups. I look forward to this rich contribution to Haringey life and society continuing in the years ahead and wish every success to Black History Month 2009.

Councillor Claire Kober
Leader of Haringey Council

Black History Month is a time for celebration. Amongst this year's offerings are some real cultural treats – helping our community reflect on the rich and varied contribution of black men and women to our Borough and our culture at large.

This year in particular, as well as celebrating black achievement, we must wonder at the possibilities ahead as a new chapter of black history begins with Obama. His infectious optimism has lit a flame for many young black people I meet in Haringey – a flame that can only be fanned by Black History Month.

Through the art, theatre, film, poetry, literary and craft events on offer, we can discover the many paths that have led black people to Haringey and think about where they will lead to next. I hope you will be able make it to as many of these events as possible – there really is something for everyone.

Lynne Featherstone
Member of Parliament for Hornsey and Wood Green

I am delighted that yet again Haringey Council is putting on an exciting programme of events to celebrate Black History Month. This year's theme is journeys; physical, spiritual, cultural and political, undertaken by all of us, in one way or another.

I am really proud of Haringey's commitment to celebrating all our communities and their pathway to Haringey. Our 2009 BHM programme reflects this commitment, with activities ranging from art exhibitions to story telling, book making and performances.

The journeys we have been on may differ, yet we share a sense of moving together towards a shared future in Haringey and I look forward to celebrating this with you.

Councillor Kaushika Amin
Cabinet Member for Community Cohesion and Involvement

Black History Month has meaning and significance for every community, especially Haringey's. Our borough is a vibrant and dynamic place to live, with a strong identity and a heritage to be proud of.

For Haringey, Black History Month is a time to celebrate the diversity of our communities and to promote the achievements and ambitions of all that is Black Culture.

With a wealth of events and activities – whether you are looking for thought provoking talks, intellectual debate, vibrant arts, dynamic film or lively music – Haringey's Black History Month has it all... enjoy!

Haringey Charmed Life Project Launch

7-9pm, St Ann's Library Hall
Info: Selma 0208 489 5352/5350,
Selma.Ibrahim@haringey.gov.uk

The Haringey Charmed Life Project aims to enable local, young people to interview and learn about the experiences of African Caribbean WW2 veterans and servicemen and women from modern day conflicts and peace keeping missions.

We will be launching this programme as part of Black History Month, where we will showcase the film A Charmed Life. The documentary examines the life and times of Eddie Martin Noble (1917-2007), born in Kingston, Jamaica and served in the RAF during WW2. The film gives a historical perspective on issues around the colonisation of the Caribbean, racism in the RAF during the war, the colour bar and the racial inequality in post war Britain.

After the film there will be a panel discussion facilitated by Patrick Vernon (Film director), S.I. Martin (author, researcher and visiting Professor of English at New York University in London) and Bill Guy (Haringey resident who served in the US Navy in 1948 and moved to Britain in 1950).

A partnership project between Haringey Library Services, Every Generation, MLA London and funded by the Big Lottery.
